Production notes A fictional giveaway setup. Leave a beat for the group reaction.

Scene 02 00:06.0 – 00:12.0 The catch

Visual & direction

Medium shot from beside the group. MrBeast lifts the closed phone to compose a photo; a contestant points from him toward the empty spot in the lineup.

Dialogue & sound

CONTESTANT: Wait. You're not in it.

MRBEAST: And nobody gets to hold the camera.

Production notes Use a quick reaction cut. The phone is still folded; no tripod.

Visual & direction

Close insert. Hands open iPhone Duo and set it on a waist-high plinth in a stable self-supporting folded pose, camera oriented toward the group.

Shoot checklist

- One studio, MrBeast as proposed host, six adult performers, phone and plinth.
- Use a supported Smart Take setup; record the real capture flow before locking timing.
- All participants and the prize are fictional in this concept. Keep the concept label on shared previews.

Reviewer notes

Codex creator pass (separate_pass): s1 leads with an offer; s2 gives a participant the objection; s5 returns to the group reaction. The setup is simpler than a full challenge and is an original concept, not a channel-performance claim.

Codex brand pass (separate_pass): s3–s4 make the verified hands-free/Smart Take use central. No purchase or personal-use claims. Rehearse capture flow before production; the public demo prominently identifies the scenario and prize as fictional.

Requirements review

- s1 establishes the offer; s2 introduces the obstacle.
- s3–s4 demonstrate the foldable setup and Smart Take.
- s5 pays off the premise; s6 directs viewers to the product page.
